America's Best Management Consulting Firms is comprised of the best consultancies based on results of an online, two-step methodology including expert and client surveys.

Step 1 – Surveys

Expert Survey: Over 7,500 executives and partners from more than 1,000 management consulting firms nationwide were invited to make recommendations for consultancies in 16 industries and 16 functional areas. Self-recommendations were not accepted or included in the final results.

Client Survey: Over 1,300 senior executives who have collaborated with a management consultancy in the past four years were surveyed. Respondents were asked which industries and functional areas they retained a consulting firm, and then recommended a firm compiled from the expert survey list.

Step 2 – Rankings

The top 218 of the most recommended management consulting firms were sorted into three different star classes, based on the data derived from the two surveys.
